In Re: Yates v. Yates, et al.

Civil Action No. 3:15-cv-45

Dear Ms. Emily Yates, Ms. Diane Yates, Enterprise Rent-A-Car of KY, LLC, and Nationwide Mutual Insurance Company,

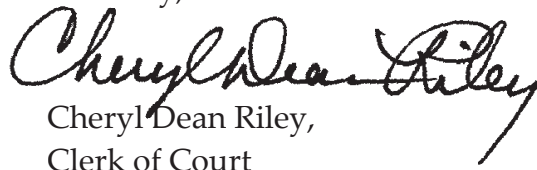

I have been contacted by Chief Judge, Gina M. Groh, who presided over the above-mentioned case. Judge Groh informed me that it has been brought to her attention that while she presided over the case, her husband owned stock in Nationwide. Her husband's ownership of stock neither affected nor impacted her decisions in this case, which was terminated after settlement upon entry of an Order Dismissing Case, with no substantive orders issued by Judge Groh. However, her husband's stock ownership would have required recusal under the Code of Conduct for United States Judges, and thus, Judge Groh directed that I notify the parties of the conflict.

Advisory Opinion 71, from the Judicial Conference Codes of Conduct Committee, provides the following guidance for addressing disqualification that is not discovered until after a judge has participated in a case:

[A] judge should disclose to the parties the facts bearing on disqualification as soon as those facts are learned, even though that may occur after entry of the decision. The parties may then determine what relief they may seek and a court (without the disqualified judge) will decide the legal consequence, if any, arising from the participation of the disqualified judge in the entered decision.

Although Advisory Opinion 71 contemplated disqualification after a Court of Appeals oral argument, the Committee explained "[s]imilar considerations would apply when a judgment was entered in a district court by a judge and it is later learned that the judge was disqualified." With Advisory Opinion 71 in mind, you are invited to respond to Judge Groh's disclosure of a conflict in this case. Should you wish to respond, please submit your response in writing by filing it on the docket of this case on or before October 13, 2021. Any response will be considered by another judge of this court without the participation of Judge Groh.

Sincerely,

Cheryl Dean Riley,
Clerk of Court
